Brickendon – A photography treasure trove. So much to photograph.

(Source: Brickendon website)

Eighteen members travelled to Brickendon at Longford on Friday afternoon 17th March for a photoshoot. Members were able to move around the World Heritage listed historic farm and photograph a wide variety of buildings, farming equipment, farm buildings, domestic buildings, gardens, and animals. The turkeys hogged the limelight.

There was a plethora of photo opportunities and challenges. Deciding how to set up for photos considering the light and dark areas tested one's photographic skills. How to compose photos in the Brickendon setting was another challenge.

One of the joys of the late afternoon session was looking into rooms and enclosures and finding something unexpected. I came across an abstract bull, crafted in ceramic tiles in a closed room in the granary.

Participants would like to express their appreciation to the Archer family and Brickendon staff for hosting our visit. Thank you for your hospitality.

Australia Cup Competition 2023

The Australian Cup Competition is photographic competition between clubs in Australia, organised by the Australian Photographic Society. Our club has entered the competition in the last three years and will do it again in 2023.

Clubs enter 20 images from up to 20 members. The winning score is the sum of the scores of the 20 images. In previous years, there was no set topic. For this year, the subject will be "Australia". Get your thinking cap on and get out there to capture images that set Australia apart.

Soggy Bottom Cardboard Boat Regatta

All Systems Go

They're Racing

Many hands make light work!

All together now

This year's Soggy Bottom Cardboard Boat Regatta was held at the First Basin Pool. Boats can only be made out of cardboard and tape. There are some fascinating designs. Some boats handle the water well, others capsize soon after the start. Races were one or two laps of the pool. Irrespective of the results, everyone had a great time; some wetter than others.

Oops!

Capsize

Winners are grinner.
